

How much does a butterfly-shaped optical cable device cost

Article Overview

Butterfly-shaped optical cables typically range from $0.03 to $26.80 per unit, depending on specifications, sheath material, and order quantity.

Price Range and Factors

The cost of butterfly-shaped optical cables varies widely based on several factors:

- Sheath Material: PVC sheaths are generally less expensive, while LSZH (Low Smoke Zero Halogen) sheaths cost more due to their safety and environmental compliance, especially in confined spaces or densely populated areas .
- Fiber Type and Count: Single-mode or multi-mode fibers, as well as the number of fiber ribbons, influence the price. More fibers or higher-performance fibers increase cost.
- Bulk Orders: Wholesale purchases starting from 5 units can significantly reduce the per-unit price, with bulk pricing ranging from $0.03 to $26.80 per cable .
- Application and Design: FTTH (Fiber to the Home) butterfly cables with flat, space-saving designs may cost more due to their specialized construction and aesthetic advantages .

Additional Considerations

- Installation Environment: Outdoor or pipeline applications may require reinforced cables with steel or FRP strength members, UV protection, and moisture-resistant s...
