

Huijue manufactures electrical distribution boxes

Article Overview

Huijue Group manufactures electrical distribution boxes, including server cabinets, network cabinets, and energy storage enclosures.

Huijue Group, founded in 2002 and headquartered in Shanghai's Free Trade Zone, is a high-tech company specializing in energy storage systems and intelligent network communication equipment . The company operates multiple production bases in Jiangsu and Shanghai, with modern facilities covering over 350,000 square meters and employing thousands of staff . Huijue's product portfolio includes household, industrial, and commercial energy storage systems, as well as outdoor solar battery enclosures, 19-inch server racks, wall-mounted network cabinets, and power distribution units (PDUs), which serve as electrical distribution boxes for IT, telecommunication, and energy applications . The company emphasizes customized and standardized production, offering durable, weatherproof, and secure enclosures suitable for both indoor and outdoor installations . Its products are widely used in government, transportation, education, and commercial sectors, and are exported globally to Europe, North America, and Southeast Asia . Huijue also integrates intelligent energy management solutions with its enclosures, providing both protection and operational efficiency for electrical and network equipment . In summary, Huijue is a legitimate manufacturer of electrical distribution boxes, particularly in the form of server cabinets, network cabinets, and energy storage enclosures, supported by extensive production capacity, R&D capabilities, and international sales networks .
