

South Asia wholesale price for 1 6T hybrid optical and electrical cable

Article Overview

Wholesale prices for 1.6T hybrid optical and electrical cables in South Asia are influenced by supply constraints, technology type, and regional demand, with copper-based solutions typically over 50% cheaper than fiber-optic alternatives.

Market Overview

The 1.6T optical module market is experiencing rapid growth, particularly in the Asia-Pacific region, driven by 5G deployment, data center expansion, and AI workloads . South Asia, including India and neighboring countries, is part of this growth trend, benefiting from investments in telecommunications infrastructure and enterprise networking.

Pricing Factors

- Technology Type:
  - Optical cable solutions are standard for high-speed, long-distance data transmission but are more expensive due to the cost of optical transceivers and fiber components .
  - Copper-cable solutions are more than 50% cheaper than fiber-based options and remain competitive for shorter-distance or cost-sensitive deployments .
- Supply Constraints:
  - Key components such as optical and electronic chips are in limited supply, which can drive up prices for optical modules .
  - Hybrid solutions that combine optical and electrical interfaces may face similar su...
