

Xingan Stainless Steel Cable Tray Manufacturer

Article Overview

Xingan is a manufacturer specializing in fireproof and stainless steel cable trays, offering durable solutions for industrial and commercial cable management.

Xingan is listed as a fireproof cable tray manufacturer based in Germany, supplying high-quality cable management systems suitable for various industrial applications . Their products are designed to provide secure, organized, and corrosion-resistant support for electrical cables, ensuring safety and longevity in demanding environments.

Product Types and Features

Xingan's stainless steel cable trays typically include:

- Perforated Cable Trays: Allow ventilation and heat dissipation for power, instrument, and data cables, reducing the risk of overheating .
- Wire Mesh Cable Trays: Constructed from high-grade stainless steel (304 or 316), offering lightweight yet strong support, excellent corrosion resistance, and flexibility for complex cable runs .
- Cable Ladders and Trunking: Provide robust support for heavy-duty cables, with modular designs for easy installation and maintenance . Key features of stainless steel cable trays include resistance to moisture, chemicals, and high temperatures, making them suitable for coastal areas, chemical plants, food processing industries, and data centers . They are also designed for quick installation, with pre-drilled hole...
